

Tom Deitrich

Senior Vice President and General Manager
Cellular Products and RF, Analog & Sensor
Freescale

Tom Deitrich is senior vice president and general manager of Cellular Products and RF, Analog & Sensor.

Tom has extensive experience in product management, research and development (R&D), supply chain management and business development for wireless products. Prior to joining Freescale, he was the Senior Vice President of ODM, Design, and Vertical Integration of FlexMobile of Flextronics. Previously, Tom was Senior Vice President at Sony Ericsson Mobile Communications leading the Americas Product Business Unit for mobile phones.

Tom earned a bachelor's degree in electrical and mechanical engineering from Widener University and master's degree in electronics engineering from the University of Pennsylvania. He also holds a master's of business administration degree from Marquette University