

<http://www.arm.com/iqonline/news/ARMnews/14551.html>

05 September 2006

Futurist Raymond Kurzweil To Deliver Keynote At ARM DevCon

Raymond Kurzweil, futurist, inventor, entrepreneur and author, will be delivering one of the keynotes at the third annual ARM Developers' Conference next month.

Kurzweil will be presenting on the acceleration of technology in the 21st century with a focus on the impact on business, the economy and society.

ARM CEO Warren East will open the day with a welcome address and introduce the industry keynote speakers

Jim Feldhan, president, Semico Research will conclude the keynote speeches by providing an overall semiconductor industry update, with a focus on how to work better with your semiconductor partners.

The ARM Developers' Conference brings all ARM Partners together to focus on industry collaboration, highlight innovative demonstrations and present technology breakthroughs for ARM Powered products.

In addition to keynote presentations from ARM, executives and industry leaders, and participants can select from more than 120 classes, hands-on labs and panel discussions on the latest ARM processors, development tools, software, physical IP and platforms.

The ARM Developers' Conference will run from 3 to 5 October 2006 at the Santa Clara Convention Centre, California, USA.

<http://www.rtcgroup.com/arm/>